

The United Sportsmen's Club was well represented at the 2026 Collegiate Clay Target Championships at the National Shooting Complex in San Antonio, Texas in March.

Lucy Crocker competed representing the State Fair Community College team. There were over a thousand competitors from colleges all over America, including Texas, Texas A&M, West Point, and Clemson, William Woods, Lindenwood and Drury College. After a couple of shoot - off tie breakers Lucy ended up with third place lady Class C in Double Skeet and second place lady Class C Sporting Clays. It was windy on the first day and the judge asked her if she shot doubles in skeet a lot because she did so well. She replied, "I only shot it once before, but I shoot Wobble Skeet every week. I want to thank the United Sportsmen's Club and all the Monday night skeet derby shooters who have really helped me compete at a high level." Lucy is pursuing a career in Occupational Therapy.

Cole Ousley, a freshman at Missouri Valley College in Marshall, shot ACUI/SCTP Collegiate Nationals in San Antonio, Texas, this March. He scored in the top half of his team, and his Missouri Valley Shotgun Sports Team came home as National Champions in Division I. Cole is pursuing a degree in Criminal Justice with a minor in Biology Conservation, in hopes of becoming a game warden with the Missouri Conservation. Cole attributes his success to shooting with everyone at United Sportsman's Club when he comes home on the weekends and during the summer.
